Unison Prayer

On this Memorial Day weekend, we give thanks for the freedoms we enjoy, for opportunities to flourish. Thank you, Loving Creator, for a day set apart, not just for celebration, but also for solemn remembrance of those who have given their lives for these freedoms. Even as we remember those who have given their lives in the past, we also think about the men and women who are serving in places of conflict today. Protect and encourage them. God of peace, stir in the hearts of leaders of all nations. Give them a passion for peace. Dear God, help us to establish true peace and justice in this world and experience heaven here on earth. Amen.

Assurance of Grace and Peace

One: Peace be with you.

Many: And also with you.

One: Let us offer one another a sign of Peace.

Passing the Peace Draw the Circle Wide

Draw the circle wide.

Draw it wider still.

Let this be our song, no one stands alone, standing side by side,

Draw the circle wide.

(repeat after verse)

Words of Integration & Guidance

By Richard Rohr

Everything that happens to Jesus must happen in our individual souls as well. The Incarnation means the divine indwelling is not “out there.” It happens within us. This movement from Jesus to the Christ means that the same anointing that was given to Jesus is given to all of us. That’s why Jesus didn’t say, “Worship me.” He said, “Follow me.” We’ve projected more onto Jesus than he ever asked for. Also, Jesus didn’t move from Jesus to the Christ without death and resurrection, so we ourselves don’t move from our independent, historical body to the Christ consciousness without dying to our false self. We, like Jesus himself, have to let go of who we think we are, and who we think we need to be. We have to become the naked self before the naked God. That will always feel like dying. We need to know, experientially, that our naked, undecorated self is already and forever the beloved child of God. Jesus’ life is also our life. Carl Jung called Christ the archetype of the soul. Jesus came forth from God, was initiated in baptism, went through a normal growing up, then he developed a ministry, was rejected, suffered, died and ascended -- returned back to where he came from. We all go through that journey of transformation that returns us to where we began but with a freer consciousness. Unfortunately, we’ve turned Christianity into that evacuation plan for the next world. The term “cosmic Christ” reminds us that everything and everyone belongs. We’re indeed the body of Christ. God’s hope for humanity is that one day we will all recognize that the divine dwelling place is all of creation. Christ comes again whenever we see that matter and spirit coexist. This truly deserves to be called good news.
